

Creighton Continues Commitment to Sustainability

The Office of Sustainability Programs is happy to share that we have renewed Creighton's membership with the Association for the Advancement of Sustainability in Higher Education \(AASHE\). AASHE is a non-profit 501(c)(3) membership organization that empowers higher education faculty, administrators, staff and students to be effective change agents and drivers of sustainability innovation. You can view a list of AASHE's 900+ members here.

As a member university, our entire Creighton community has access to AASHE's online resources and opportunities for networking, information sharing, collaboration and professional development.

Below are more details about AASHE's member benefits, services and programs:

Online Resources

AASHE's Campus Sustainability Hub is an online resource library that provides access to 6,000+ valuable resources for campus sustainability practitioners, enabling AASHE members to share and learn about all aspects of sustainability in higher education. Resources are organized by sustainability topic (e.g., curriculum, public engagement, energy, investment) and content type (e.g., academic program, case study, conference presentation, photograph).

Individual Member Accounts

To access member-only pages on AASHE's website and take advantage of member benefits, individuals must first create their own account. To create an individual account, go to the register page and complete a user profile using your campus email address. After you receive an email with your password, go to the login page, enter your email address (username) and new password, and you will have access to the entirety of online resources.

AASHE e-Newsletters

Everyone is encouraged to subscribe to AASHE's e-Newsletters. AASHE Bulletin is a weekly publication that delivers the latest in campus sustainability news, resources, opportunities, events, and jobs and internships. AASHE Announcements is a monthly publication that highlights news, events and important information about AASHE and its members. STARS Update is a periodic publication designed to keep participants up-to-date on the latest STARS technical developments, publications, deadlines, tips and tools.

If you have any questions about AASHE or our benefits as a member, email membership@ashe.org. Again, every individual on our campus can take advantage of these membership benefits from AASHE, so be sure to set up an account and get started today!
